

Guide to Using the Polish National Digital Archives (NDA)

Howard Fink
Digital Archives Coordinator
Jewish Records Indexing – Poland

September 2013

Overview

The Polish National Digital Archives (NDA) began to make files available in late 2009. Work began in earnest in 2013 with the plan to place 2.3 million scanned images online by the end of June. More images will be made available online by the end of 2013 with a goal of making images of all publicly accessible records available within 2 to 3 years. There is no timetable for the addition of specific collections.

While access to the images is free the NDA web site does not provide any index to the images beyond the titles of the collections being digitized. In cases where these records are Jewish vital records the Jewish Records Indexing – Poland organization (JRI-Poland) will be cross-referencing their indices of 5 million records to the corresponding images found on the NDA web site. This collaboration will benefit both organizations as well as researchers who previously had to go through multiple steps to locate the appropriate records, mail international orders (including complex foreign currency payments) and wait long periods of time for photocopies of records. If you would like to volunteer to help add image links to the JRI-Poland indices please send a message to Howard Fink, Digital Archives Coordinator at HowGen@verizon.net.

The NDA web site is primarily in the Polish language. There are plans to include English versions of the web pages (by clicking on the upper right flag icon), but initially these have been minimally implemented. While the image quality is excellent, and the quantity of images is enormous some of the site navigation and image manipulation tools may not be intuitive to all. This document is intended to help people learn how to use the NDA web site to search, navigate, view and download records.

Access

The home page of the NDA web site is:

<http://szukajwarchiwach.pl/>

In many cases JRI-Poland has already created links in its Database Search results to either the exact image, or to folders containing the appropriate collection of images on the Polish NDA web site. If your search on JRI-Poland does not yet provide either of these links you can use the above NDA web site to try to find records for your town.

The following example shows how JRI-Poland displays a link to the folders of collections when we do not yet have links entered to exact images:

Kolo PSA Births 1811/27,43 Marriages 1811/24 Deaths 1811/25
Eventually all index records will be directly linked to their images, but in the meantime you can find folders with all currently available images HERE

When you click on the “HERE” link the NDA web site will display the various sets of records for that town:

The screenshot shows a search interface for historical records. At the top left is the logo "Archival resources online" and the URL "szukajwarchiwach.pl". At the top right are language selection icons for Polish, English, and German. The main search bar contains the placeholder "Search this collection" with a magnifying glass icon and a "Search" button. To the right of the search bar is a link to "Advanced search >". Below the search bar, the text "Collection: 54/839/0 Akta stanu cywilnego Okręgu Bóżniczego Koło" is displayed. Underneath this, the title "Akta stanu cywilnego Okręgu Bóżniczego Koło" is shown in bold. A breadcrumb navigation path is visible: "Archive > Collection > Series [20] > Units [142/142]". Below the path are two buttons: "Refine by title of collection (ascending)" and "Refine by reference code of collection (ascending)". A dropdown menu titled "Units in the collection:" is open, showing a table of birth records. The table has columns: Reference code, Title, Dates, and Number of scans. The data is as follows:

Reference code	Title	Dates	Number of scans
54/839/0/1.1/2	Księga urodzeń	1826	20
54/839/0/1.1/5	Książka urodzenia	1827-1828	35

54/839/0/4.2/33	Dowody do akt małżeństwa	1828	0

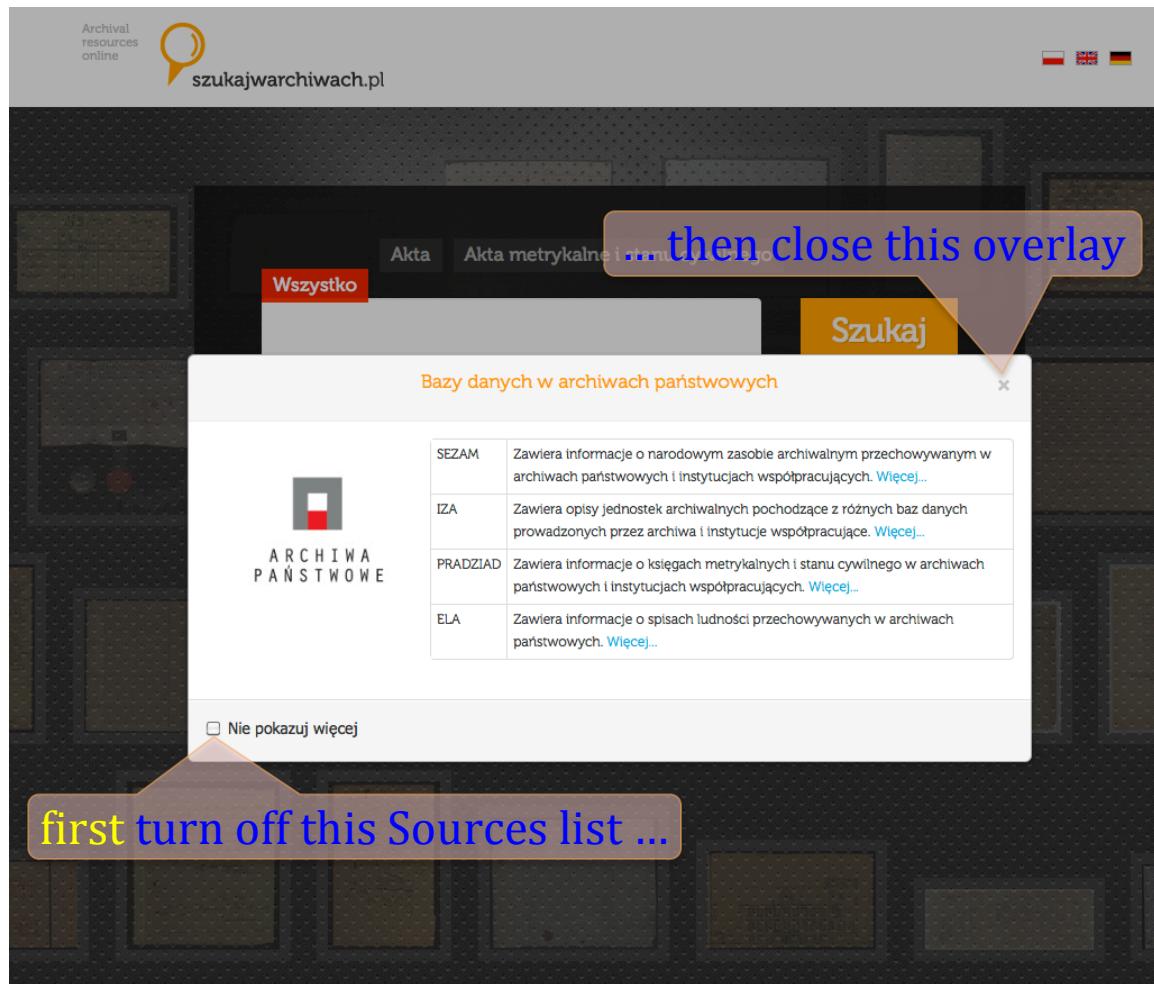

Clicking on the Title that is appropriate for your record(s) of interest, and then the Digital Copies tab that appears will allow you to view thumbnails of the images in that collection. Note that entries with zero scans do not yet have any images online.

The typical titles will be of these types:

- urodzeń – birth
- zgonów – death
- małżeństw - marriage

NDA Web Site – Initial Setup

When you first visit the NDA web site there will be an overlay message describing the various sources of records at the NDA. If you want to suppress this message from appearing in the future, click the checkbox in the lower left corner before dismissing this overlay (by clicking the Close control in the top right corner).

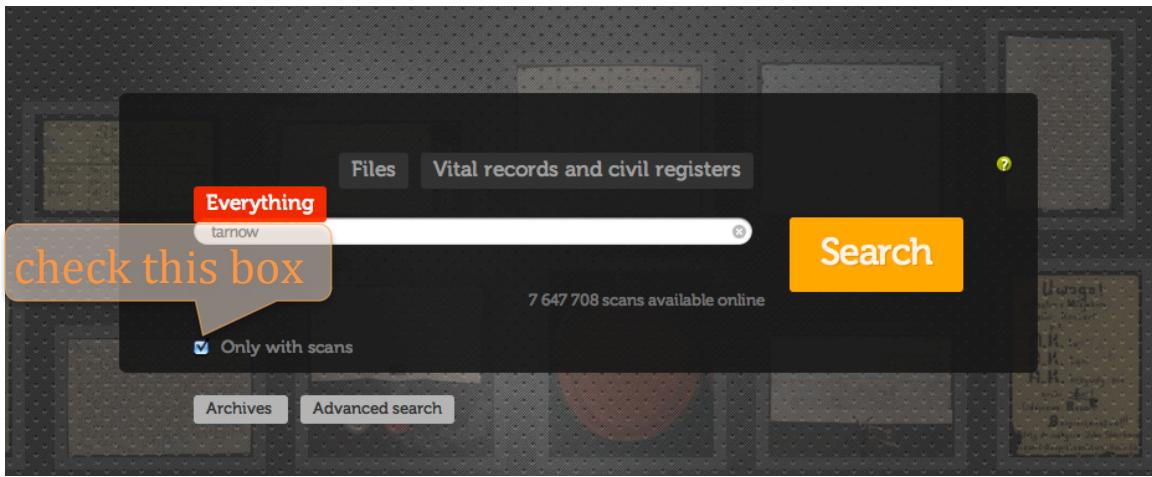

Each time you visit the NDA site there will be a message across the bottom of your window that the site uses cookies to track statistical information. To suppress this message in the future, click the green Zamknij button on the right.

Searching

Researchers may search the holdings of the NDA themselves. This is not necessary when using the JRI-Poland links into the NDA image records, but will be required when looking for records that have not been indexed, or whose index entries have not yet been linked.

Most searches will start with either a location (most likely town) or type of record (for instance, emigration). Not all records on the NDA web site contain digital images; to restrict your search to those that do you should restrict your search results by using the checkbox control that is either labeled “Only with scans” or “Digital Copies”.

Because there are many non-Jewish records on the NDA web site it is useful to add a word for Jewish to your search phrase. The above search for “tarnow” resulted in almost 2000 matches. Here are some words (or partial words) that may be useful:

- HEBRAJSKI
- HEBREW
- ISRAEL
- IZRAELICKIE
- JEWISH
- JUDEN
- MOJZESZ
- ZYDOW

When searching for “tarnow” and “israel” only 7 results were found:

The screenshot shows the homepage of the szukajwarchiwach.pl website. At the top, there is a search bar containing "tarnow israel". Below the search bar are buttons for "Search" and "Clear". To the right of the search bar, there are three small flags representing Poland, the United Kingdom, and Germany. On the left side, there are sections for "Search options" and "Filters". The "Search options" section includes buttons for "Collections", "Units +", "Items +", "Vital records and civil registers", and "Only units/collections with scans". The "Filters" section includes buttons for "Add filter", "Add collection filter", "Add units' filter", "Add items' filter", and "Add vital records' filter". In the center, the search results are displayed. A large orange callout bubble with the text "better results" points to the first result. The results are listed in a table format with columns for "Name of series", "Description", and "Digital copies". The results are:

- "Israelitische Geburts Matrik Tarnow 1844 bis 1849" [księga urodzin].
1844-1849

A large orange callout bubble with the text "click title" points to the title of the first result.

Clicking on the title of any of the results will display the details of that item. At this point you will see a page with a header bar that contains the expression Digital copies followed by the number of scanned images for that set of records.

The screenshot shows a search result for a specific collection. At the top, there's a header with a magnifying glass icon, the text 'szukajwarchiwach.pl', and language selection buttons for Polish, English, and German. Below the header, a search bar has the placeholder 'w tym zespole'. To the right of the search bar are 'Search' and 'Advanced search >' buttons. A callout bubble with the text 'click this tab to view images' points to the 'Digital copies [49]' link in the breadcrumb navigation bar. The breadcrumb navigation bar also includes 'Archive', 'Collection', 'Series [8]', 'Units [4]', '29/526/0/4.1/9', 'Digital copies [49]', 'Indexes [0]', and 'Items [0]'. The main content area displays detailed information about the document, including its title ('Archiwum Narodowe w Krakowie'), date ('1844-1849'), and various physical and administrative details. On either side of the main content area are large grey arrow-shaped navigation controls.

Navigation

When a researcher accesses results through the JRI-Poland Database Search tool, if corresponding images are available and they have been cross-referenced, a link to display the high resolution version of the image on the NDA web site will be provided next to each result. There should be no further need for navigation, but the user can step to the Previous and Next image using controls on the NDA web page. Sometimes the NDA has multiple images of the same page, so it may be worthwhile checking the adjacent images.

When JRI-Poland has found a collection of images associated with an index we will provide a link to the appropriate collection on the NDA web site even if no volunteer has yet created links to the specific images for each record. In this case users will have to browse the collection themselves in order to locate the appropriate image, but the hard work of finding the appropriate collection has been done.

Clicking on this tab will bring up the first page of thumbnail images. Normally 15 pages will displayed at a time, however you can change this to 30, 50 or 100 using the pull-down menu on the left just below the header bar.

The screenshot displays a digital archive interface for historical records. At the top, it shows the collection details: 'Collection: 53/3579/0 Akta stanu cywilnego gminy żydowskiej Kórnik (pow. śremski) » Series:: 1.1 Akta urodzeń » File/unit:: 4'. Below this, the title 'Geburtsliste' is visible. A prominent orange callout bubble points to the 'thumbnails per page' dropdown menu, which is set to 15. The interface includes navigation links for 'Archive', 'Collection', 'Series [20]', 'Units [2]', and 'Digital copies [14]' (highlighted in red). A search/filter section shows 'Liczba skanów na stronie: 15'. The main content area is a grid of 15 thumbnail images, each showing a double-page spread of an old ledger or record book with handwritten entries in two columns.

If the collection cannot be displayed on a single web page there will be numbers to navigate to other pages underneath the thumbnail image panel.

When viewing the high resolution window there are two tool panels displayed:

- Contrast, Brightness and Zoom,
- Preview

Both of these panels may be dragged around by clicking and holding on their title bar (in order to make sure that they do not obscure meaningful portions of a particular image).

The first column of buttons (after the function icons) in the Contrast, Brightness and Zoom panel will increase the corresponding feature, while the second column will decrease it. The third column cannot be entered to specify a value; rather it is used to reset each function to its original value.

Unless the user's display is large enough to contain the entire high resolution image panning to different parts of the image are controlled by dragging the slightly darker gray rectangle around on top of the thumbnail in the Preview panel. The web site will accommodate the user resizing the window, but the Preview panel will normally be required in order to view the entire image unless the zoom control is lowered sufficiently.

At the top of the window are Previous and Next controls to step to adjacent images. Both above and below the image are the source citation of the collection, series and unit number, as well as the file name / image number.

A Download control at the bottom of the window will copy the entire high resolution file to your computer.
