Applause is the stimulus that feeds entertainers, but it's letters of approval that nourishes your volunteer editors. We were thrilled and amazed at the overwhelmingly positive response we received after our first issue hit the mailboxes. It tends to make us try harder to meet the standards we have set for ourselves. Thank you, thank you, thank you!

Our journal may now be found in a number of places other than the personal resources of our members. A growing number of Jewish genealogical societies as well as general and Judaica libraries world-wide have seen fit to subscribe to our journal. The more subscribers we have, the better we can improve our ability to provide you with resource materials.

A special thanks to Mike Meshenberg who came up with a long list of potential members.

Tell your friends about our new presence in cyberspace. Thanks to David Egelman, we now have a page on the Web, telling all about the K-R SIG. You can find it at www1.jewishgen.org/krsig/.

From our questionnaires we are beginning to discover what you want from our SIG in the way of information. Rest assured that we'll try to satisfy everyone, but it takes time ... and more importantly, it takes fellow members like yourselves to help us. We are enclosing a copy of the questionnaire to all those who have yet to reply. Please return them as quickly as possible.

We are in particular need of translators--Polish especially, Russian, Hebrew and Yiddish--to help translate and extract the material we have available. We also need the names and addresses of landsmanshaften, burial societies and their cemeteries and an inventory of their tombstones. We need you to come forward with the resources you have that would be helpful to other members such as census information of Polish towns, tombstone transcriptions, photographs and such.

Practically any of us can learn the techniques that add so much to our own personal family histories -- extracting. Check out the article by Lauren Davis, who heads the research end of our group, for a better insight into what's involved. Then contact us to volunteer your services. We can use the help.

Also in this issue you'll find Warren Blatt's informational piece on researching Polish vital records and an explanation of how to and what it means to extract vital information from the Polish records filmed by the LDS (Mormon) Family History Library, an explanation of a new database regarding those microfilms by Michael Tobias, and more names, names, names: of a few Radomer survivors found by Pvt. Dov Benet after WWII, Alexander Beider's continuing index of Jewish surnames from western Radom gubernia and extract data from Kielce (marriages) and Olkusz (births), plus other interesting material in our "Letters" department and elsewhere.

Read on ... then tell us what you think.

Vital Records in Poland - A Primer

by Warren Blatt

Poland has always had an excellent system of civil registration of vital records (birth, marriage and death records), better than most U.S. States. In what became the Kingdom of Poland (Russian Poland), civil registration began in 1808, and most of the records survive to this day. These documents are extremely informative — for example, a birth registration usually contains the names and ages of both parents, the date, time and place of birth, the father's occupation, and often both grandfathers' given names.

These records are kept in many different archives and town halls across Poland, and many have also been microfilmed, and are thus available for viewing around the world. Vital records less than 100 years old are still in each town's town hall, and records more than 100 years old are at one of the Polish State Archives regional branches. Most existing records before 1880 have been microfilmed by the LDS.

Records after 1896:

Vital records in Poland are recorded in each town's Civil Registration Office (in Polish, Urząd Stanu Cywilnego), and those records less than 100 years old are kept there. The records are supposed to be transferred to one of the regional State Archives branches after 100 years. Therefore, birth marriage and death records after 1896 should be at:

Urząd Stanu Cywilnego
[YourTown], POLAND

The town's Civil Registration Office may or may not write back to you — it depends upon the whim of the clerk. My experience has been about 50/50. The USC clerk will provide only typewritten abstracts of the vital records in their possession; they will not provide photocopies. The response will usually come back through the Polish Embassy, and they are now reportedly asking for $30 or $35 per record, but this is not consistent.

Records before 1896:

Records older than 100 years are held at the various State Archives branches of the Polish State Archives. All correspondence must go through the main archive in Warsaw, which will forward your request to the respective regional archive where the records for each particular town are held. Write to the State Archives at:

Naczelna Dyrekcja Archiwów Państwowych
ul. Długa 6
Skr. Poczтовая Nr 1005
00-950 Warszawa, POLAND

The archives require a $30 deposit, and charge an hourly fee of $15, and $10 for each document copy. Responses usually take about six months. Be sure to include dates and places in your request — without knowing a specific locality, no research can be done, because all vital records are kept on a local, municipal basis. There are no nation-wide indexes. See the end of this article for tips on writing to Poland.

LDS Microfilms:

The Mormons have microfilmed over 2,000 reels of 19th-century Jewish vital records in the Polish State Archives branches over the last 30 years — quite literally millions of records — dating from the beginning of civil registration in 1808, generally up through the 1860s or 1880s (depending upon when they filmed the records of a particular town — they could only film those records that were more than 100 years old at the time of microfilming).

To see what records have been microfilmed and are available for your town, look in the Family History Library Catalog™ (FHLC) Locality section under the heading "POLAND, [Province], [Town] — JEWISH RECORDS". For example, "POLAND, KIELCE, CHEĆCINY — JEWISH RECORDS". For Jewish records for 1810-1825, see under "POLAND, [Province], [Town] — CHURCH RECORDS".

To find the correct province, there's a cross-reference on the first two fiche for Poland. (Note that the FHLC uses the boundaries of Poland's seventeen 1945-1975 provinces. Nearly all of what was Kielce and Radom gubernias [1867-1917] was in Kielce province 1945-1975). The FHLC is available on microfiche and/or CD-ROM at all 2,800 LDS Family History Centers, and is updated annually.

A list of all Polish-Jewish vital records microfilmed as of 1985 was published in Avotaynu II:1 (January 1986), pp. 5-17; and was reprinted in Appendix L of The Encyclopedia of Jewish Genealogy (1991), pages 202-215. However, this list is now out of date, since hundreds of new microfilms were acquired after 1985. Consult the FHLC for the most up-to-date listings.

Mormon microfilming at the Polish State Archives stopped in 1992. The last microfilming in the Polish State Archives in Kielce was in 1991. The table below shows the 19 microfilms for twenty-four towns in the former Kielce and Radom gubernias for which records were microfilmed in Kielce in 1991.

The records filmed at Kielce in 1991 are mostly from the 1870s-1880s. For most towns, the new microfilms are extensions of existing series of records, i.e. the Mormons have previously microfilmed earlier Jewish vital records for these towns. However, there are several "new towns" on this list; those for which no records had previously been microfilmed — they are indicated on this list with an asterisk (*).

In addition to the filmings at Kielce listed in the table, other filming of Jewish records at Polish State Archives regional branches in the last 10 years includes: at Lublin and Suwałki in 1987, Łomża in 1988, Częstochowa in 1989, Łódź and Piotrków Trybunalski in 1990 (towns of Kamięnsk, Piotrków Trybunalski, Radomsko, Rozprza, Sulejów, Sulmierzyce, Szczerców, Tomaszow Mazowiecki, Tuszyn, Ujazd, etc.), Płock in 1990 (towns of Płock, Sierpc, Wyszogrod, etc), Kielce in 1991, and Zamość (Lublin area) in 1991-92.

Since most records before 1860/1880 (depending upon the town) are on generally on microfilm, and thus available locally, you only need to write to the Polish State Archives for those records not filmed, usually 1870s through 1896.

History of Civil Vital Records in Poland:

Civil vital records in what became Russian Poland (Kingdom of Poland = Congress Poland) begin in 1808 the Duchy of Warsaw. Records were kept in "Napoleonic format", a paragraph-essay style. Most of the Kielce-Radom area became part of the Duchy of Warsaw in 1809, and civil registration began there in 1810. Until 1825, Jewish records were kept in the Roman Catholic civil transcripts. Beginning in 1826, separate registers were kept for each religious community (Catholic, Jewish, Protestant, Russian Orthodox, etc.) Records were recorded in the Polish language through 1867, and were kept thereafter in the Russian language, until 1918.

Important dates:

- 1795 - 3rd partition of Poland; Poland ceases to exist as a nation. Most of Kielce-Radom area becomes part of Austrian province of West Galicia.
- 1805 - Jews in West Galicia required to take surnames - Austrian government mandate.
- 1807 - Duchy of Warsaw created by Napoleon, from former Prussian territory.
- 1808 - Civil vital registration begins in Duchy of Warsaw. Napoleonic format, Polish language. All religions registered in the Roman Catholic civil register.

- 1809 - Napoleon defeats Austria; West Galicia (includes most of future Kielce-Radom gubernias) becomes part of Duchy of Warsaw.
- 1810 - Civil vital registration begins in former West Galicia (includes Kielce-Radom region).
- 1815 - Napoleon defeated; Congress of Vienna; Kingdom of Poland formed from former Duchy of Warsaw, now under Russian control.
- 1821 - Jews in Kingdom of Poland required to take surnames - Russian government mandate.
- 1826 - Separate civil registers kept for each religious community (Roman Catholic, Jewish, Protestant, Russian Orthodox, etc).
- 1863 - Polish Insurrection against Russia.
- 1868 - Vital records in Kingdom of Poland kept in Russian language (Cyrillic alphabet).
- 1918 - End of WWI, Treaty of Versailles, Poland reborn. Vital records kept in Polish.

Records at the Kielce State Archives:

The branch of the Polish State Archives in Kielce published a 465-page inventory of their holdings in 1993: Archiwum Państwowe w Kielcach I jego Oddziały [State Archives in Kielce and its Branches] (Wydawnictwo Naukowe PWN: Warszawa-Łódź, 1993). Only a small fraction of the inventory deals with vital records; the bulk of the archives' holdings are other types of records: court, notary, agricultural, business, school, and other government administrations. The inventory is in Polish; we are attempting to find Polish translators to assist us.

Itemized in the opposite column are the Jewish vital records listed in the 1993 Kielce archives catalog. We know that this list is out-of-date, since the LDS filmed more recent records there in 1991 (see box). The archives' catalog must have been based on outdated inventories. Miriam Weiner's forthcoming book Jewish Roots in Poland: Pages From the Past and Archival Inventories is due to be published later this year. It should contain up-to-date information on the Jewish holdings of all Polish State Archives branches, as well as local USC offices.

We will try to obtain the catalog from the Radom archives this summer.

It seems as if the archives don't even know what they have — it depends upon whom/when you ask. When you get results from Poland, please write to us, and share your findings.

The Kielce archives is located at 17 ul. Warszawka in Kielce. There are three branch archives: in Jędrzejów, Pińczów, and Starachowice.

Writing to Poland:

You can write to the Polish States Archives in Warsaw in English, they will forward the request to the appropriate regional archives, and you will receive a reply in Polish. For assistance in interpreting the reply, see the excellent article "Translating Letters from the Polish National Archives" by William F. Hoffman, in RODZINY, Journal of the Polish Genealogical Society of America, XVIII:2 (August 1995), which was also reprinted in Landsmen VI:1 (Summer 1995).

Local USC (Urząd Stanu Cywilnego) offices, which hold records less than 100 years old, may not know English, so for best results you should write in Polish. See the Polish letter-writing guide in Frazin, pages 33-41, or Chorzempa, pages 231-238.

Your attempts to obtain records by writing to the Archives and USCs may not always be successful. Here are some possible reasons for a negative response or lack of response, particularly from the various local USCs. Thanks to Stan Diamond, Michael Richman, and Lauren Davis for these tips:

- The Jewish civil registers (for the applicable town/years) were, indeed, lost.
- You have the wrong town. Statements from family members that their parents came from "Kielce", "Radom" or "Warsaw", etc. may be misleading. They may have been from that gubernia (province) — but not necessarily the gubernia capital city with the same name.

Or you might have the wrong town because there is more than one town with the same name. Provide province/gubernia information, or the name of a nearby town if possible.

People living in villages registered events in a nearby larger town. Even some fair-sized towns registered all their events in a larger town.

- You did not provide the Polish version of the given name, which is the way the name would appear in the registrations. "Harry" and "Jennie" are not names used in Poland! Supply Polish or Yiddish names.

- You provided an Anglicized spelling of a name, which bears little resemblance to the spellings in the Polish records.

Example: To a Polish-speaking person, the name spelled "COHEN" would sound more like "TSONE" or "TZOKHIN". (See the guide to Polish pronunciation on the back cover of the last issue). An inexperienced Civil Records Office manager or employee would not look for "KON" or "KOHN" or "KOEN" or "KAAN" or "KOCHEN" — which is likely the way the name was spelled in Polish records.

- The manager of the USC to whom you wrote is not sufficiently versed in Russian to quickly spot the Cyrillic version of the name. Civil records in the Kingdom of Poland were kept in the Russian language (Cyrillic alphabet) from 1868 to 1917.
- Your family changed their surname after immigration, in spite of what you've been told.
- Your family never got around to registering the event, or the registration was delayed a number of years. It is not unusual to find births registered two, three, or even ten years late.
- The recipient did not understand what you were asking for, because your letter was not in Polish, or because you asked for so much, it was confusing. Thus, your letter was not given attention. Keep it simple. In small towns, the office is run entirely by one person.
- The USC could not afford stamps to reply to your genealogical inquiry. You should enclose an International Reply Coupon (IRC), available from your local Post Office, and explain its use.

Private Dov Benet's 1945 Radomer Survivor Encounters

Dov Benet was born Berek Benet in Radom, Poland in 1921. He immigrated to Palestine in 1936 with his parents, and served in the Jewish Brigade of the British Army in World War II. He was involved in genealogy from 1987 until his death in 1995.

The following excerpts are references to Radomers in Dov's letters to his mother, while he served in the army. This correspondence is from the collection of Dov's brother, Itamar Josef Benet. It is reprinted with the permission of Dov's wife, Rivka Havkin Benet. Liuba Baltuch, of Tel-Aviv, was kind enough to perform the translations from Yiddish to English.

Holland, 28 August 1945

Beloved and dear Ima!

When we left Italy we went through Germany. As a driver of "rabon" we went into several places where Jews still remained. In one of these places I met 200 Radomers. You cannot imagine their joy. They tore me to pieces. Every one of them wanted to find out about their relatives. They talked 20 at a time; I came out of there all mixed up. I did meet some very good acquaintances. Dear Ima, you for sure would know them all.

Your Dov

7 November 1945

Beloved and dear Ima!

I have met a few Radomers, all in all 10. I'm here writing down the names of the Radomers:

GOLDFARB, Gilek

RAKATCH, Aharon

PRAZMISTOV, Efraim

FISHMAN, Avram (son of Elimelach FISHMAN and Miriam STUDIAN)

FAINTUCH, Monick

HERSZENFIS, Leisor

FINKELSTEIN, Mayer

PUTERMAN, Hirsch

SPIC, Haim

WEISFELDAVER, Anselm

Leib Goldberg asked me (his father is called Haim and is the brother from Zelik and he is not from Radom) to give regards from his uncle Zelik the leatherman that lives and is in Dachau, to his family in Tel-Aviv.

LDS Microfilm Master (Poland)

by Michael Tobias

I stumbled by chance upon my Kielce Gubernia ancestors. A long-ignored piece of information from a UK Naturalisation certificate pointed the way to the town of Chęciny as the home of my Majerkiewicz ancestors, and not the city of Łódź as I had expected. A place of birth was noted as 'Chinchim, Keltz, Russia' which as everybody knows is 'Chęciny, Kielce, Poland'!

As I worked my way (with help from Lauren Davis) through the Jewish vital records of the town of Chęciny, microfilmed by the LDS, I began to find records for my family. In particular I located the 1856 marriage record for my great-great-grandparents Majer Majerkiewicz and Blima Cytron. I hoped I would then have great success with the Cytron family as there was a large family by that name throughout the Chęciny records, but unfortunately there did not appear to be a connection. Blima was described as being 'temporarily resident' in Chęciny on the marriage record and indeed I could not locate her birth in the Chęciny records. There was no indication of her town of origin. All I could do was hope that the family were not from far afield and that I could locate them in the records of nearby towns. But where?

After researching many of the Cytron records from the town I determined that there was another Cytron family who appeared in Chęciny in the early 1840s and who were not related to the large Chęciny family group. There was a possibility that they might be related to my Blima. Now I had a clue. The village of Małogoszcz was referred to in these records. A quick look in the LDS catalog for Małogoszcz indicated that Jewish records on microfilm were available for the town from 1826 to 1867. There were also civil records available for the 1810 to 1825 period. I calculated that Małogoszcz was only 7.5 miles west of Chęciny and so this was a reasonable place to research further.

I struck lucky with the Małogoszcz records right away. As well as locating Blima's birth record in 1836, I also located the birth record for one of her brothers. Even better, for several years her grandfather acted as witness to the registrations. I now have one line of the Cytron family traced back to around 1700 (though I do not know where they were living throughout that period!).

I hope to add to this success with the Cytron family. They appear to have lived in Małogoszcz for a period of only 5 years. There is no reference to them prior to 1836 and by 1841 they were living in Chęciny. Blima's birth record refers to yet another village - Rembiechowa. I can only suppose that this was the village the family came from prior to the move to Małogoszcz. Rembiechowa is 11.5 miles WSW of Chęciny. Where would vital events be registered for that village? The search continued.

In many ways I have been lucky. I found clues within some records that pointed to nearby towns. Thankfully, many of them had vital records of their own microfilmed by the LDS. To date I have found members of my family in the records of the towns of Chęciny, Kielce, Bodzentyn and Małogoszcz. But how would I have unravelled the migration path of the Cytron family if no prior towns were mentioned in the records I'd found in Chęciny?

Other towns and villages were referenced, however, which did not have their own vital record registers (not microfilmed by the LDS anyway). In many cases I was dealing with smaller and smaller towns and villages. I began to wonder where these events might have been registered. I knew that most villages did not keep their own registers, but registered their vital events in a nearby town. In addition I knew of some reasonable-sized towns and villages which also registered elsewhere, for example

- The city of Kielce had intermittent Jewish residence bans for a large part of the 19th century, hence no formal Jewish congregation existed in Kielce. During the years that Jews were permitted to live in Kielce, they registered their vital events in the nearby town of Chęciny. Jewish registration in the city of Kielce itself started in 1868.
- The registers in Małogoszcz are full of events from the town of Łopuszno. I have no idea why this is the case. Why were they not registered in Łopuszno itself? Are there any Łopuszno researchers out there? If so, do they realise that there ARE Jewish vital records for the town - though not listed in the LDS catalog? How many more towns is this true for?

It appears that some families were very mobile. Some of them appear in a town's records out of nowhere and then later disappear in a similar fashion. It would therefore be useful to know of ALL towns in the surrounding area with Jewish records on microfilm at the LDS. By researching those nearby towns we might trace these families.

By this time I had become very involved with JewishGen, the Jewish Genealogical Conference on the Internet. I had been responsible for developing many of their searchable database engines on their web site <<http://www.jewishgen.org>>. I decided to make use of some of the data and systems I knew were available. I combined the data from two sets of information already available on JewishGen (REIPP and ShtetlSeeker), plus a distance calculator.

From REIPP (the Russian Era Indexing of Poland Project) <<http://www.jewishgen.org/reipp>>, Avotaynu and other resources, I had a reasonably up-to-date list of the LDS holding of microfilms of Jewish records from Poland. Many of these were from Kielce and Radom Provinces, but just exactly where were these towns relative to my area of interest? The JewishGen ShtetlSeeker <<http://www1.jewishgen.org/locmenu.htm>> and Where Once We Walked allowed me to determine the precise latitudes and longitudes.

The end result was a new JewishGen search system: the LDS Microfilm Master (Poland) <<http://www1.jewishgen.org/ldsdist.htm>>. Using this system you can specify the co-ordinates of your town of interest and the system will list all towns with available LDS microfilms of Jewish records within 100 miles (or 150 kilometers) of that reference point. The towns are listed in increasing distance order. In this way, you can search LDS microfilms for towns in order of increasing distance from a known location -- either a family that did not remain in the same town over the entire civil registration period, or a family living in a town that had no office of vital statistics of its own. Having listed the towns, you can then select any town to get a list of the microfilms/record sets available. You can also select any listed town to become your new focal point and re-base your list of towns around that location.

The following two tables are an example of the system's output. For the cities of Kielce and Radom they list all towns within 50 miles with known LDS microfilms of Jewish records. Only towns in Kielce or Radom Gubernias are included. There are other towns, with records available, which lie within 50 miles (particularly in the case of Radom) but are not in either Gubernia. If you are interested you should check out the LDS Microfilm Master (Poland) system at the web address above.

If you have an interest in this region I suggest you use the location of your town of interest (see Warren Blatt's table in Kielce-Radom SIG Journal Volume 1 Number 1 pages 6 and 7) and check out the LDS Microfilm Master (Poland) <<http://www1.jewishgen.org/ldsdist.htm>> on JewishGen. If you have any questions you can contact me via email at <mtobias@jewishgen.org> .

Michael Tobias is an actuary and is one of the webmasters on the JewishGen World Wide Web site. During the past year he has developed over a dozen web and email search engine tools for Jewish genealogists.

Seeking information about town vital record registers

Have you noticed, when searching the vital records of a town in the Kielce-Radom region, a preponderance of records from another neighboring town? By a preponderance we mean not just noticing brides and grooms from elsewhere embedded in the records since that is common, but that seemingly all birth, marriage and death records for another town are registered there. Several examples of this are known already for Kielce gubernia, the city of Kielce records for 1852-1867 are included in Checiny and the records of Łopuszno were included in the Malogoszcz register. In neighboring Lublin gubernia, the 1810-1825 Izbica records were in the Tarnogóra Roman Catholic civil register, and many of the later Tarnogóra Jewish records were included in the Izbica registers.

We are trying to prepare a comprehensive list, so that we can determine where each town's records were maintained. Even for sizeable towns, the vital record registry was not always located in that town.

1) If you are looking through the records of a town, and you see lot of registrations for another town, please let us know.

2) If there appear to be NO records for your town in the LDS collection, use the "LDS Microfilm Master" system (see the above article), and search nearby towns with records to see if your town is included in the nearby town's records.

SURNAMENES FROM WESTERN RADOM GUBERNIA

Compiled by Alexander Beider

Listed below are the surnames from the three western districts of Radom gubernia: Radom, Opoczno and Końskie. These are surnames extracted from the voter lists for the Gosudarstvennaya Duma (Russian parliament) of 1906, 1907 or 1912, along with the total number of voters bearing each surname; and surnames extracted from yizkor books.

All these names were transliterated into a standard contemporary Polish spelling, from either Russian (voter lists), or from Yiddish or Hebrew (yizkor books). All the letters in the names below should be read as in Polish. For example, we spell "Frydman" instead of more familiar English spelling of "Friedman", "Rozensztejn" instead of "Rosenstein", "Kac" instead of "Katz", etc.

Dr. Beider has graciously shared the sources of his research with the Kielce-Radom SIG. Data for the other districts of Radom gubernia appeared in the previous issue; data for Kielce will appear in future issues of this journal.

Dr. Beider is offering a research service. He will return to you the complete entries for a surname from the original voter lists, at a cost of $21 per name per district. The voter lists contain the surname and given name of each voter. Patronymics (the father's given name) are present in most of these lists as well. Write to: Alexander Beider, 8 rue du Dauphiné, 91300 Massy, France. Make checks payable to "Avotaynu, Inc."

Post Paris seminar offers opportunity for added research in Poland

Attending the 5th International Seminar on Jewish Genealogy in Paris this summer offers members of the Kielce-Radom SIG a chance to visit the land of their ancestors after the final banquet on Thurs., July 17. This is the first time ever for the conclave to be held in Paris.

The meetings themselves will have an international flavor as Jewish genealogy experts from Europe will be heading many of the sessions scheduled. The seminar begins on Sunday evening, July 13.

Many of our members are planning to visit Poland, some in two special tours with professional genealogists Gary Mokotoff taking one contingent to Warsaw and Eileen Polakoff taking another to Krakow. Full details are available on the Web www.uniglobe-dynamic.com/paris97/paris_seminar.html

or by contacting Uniglobe-Dynamic Travel, 1-800-787-7457 in Houston, TX.

Land and air costs of the mini-tours that include six nights in the destination cities, will run about $2360 per person double occupancy to $2700, single, includes a stopover in Paris for the seminar.

Private car, guide and translator are also available on request.

The seminar itself will be held at the Sofitel Forum Rive Gauche, where rooms run about $137.50 per night. Cost of the seminar is about $150 each, or $230 per couple. The banquet cost is about $45. All above are U.S. prices depending on the exchange rate at the time.

Full details of the Paris seminar itself are also available on the Web from www.jewishgen.org

Of course, the K-R SIG would appreciate receiving any personal accounts, along with any photos you take.

A brief meeting of the SIG, although not yet scheduled, is expected to be held at the seminar.

Kielce-Radom SIG Projects

Help Needed!

Chmielnik

There are no Chmielnik vital records prior to 1876. We can partially reconstruct the residents of Chmielnik up to that point by extracting marriages of surrounding towns, seeking Chmielnik brides and grooms that married elsewhere. The records of the towns they married in should indicate Chmielnik as place of residence, place of birth, and/or place where the banns were read. Please send us photocopies or extractions of any vital records containing Chmielnik residents.

Staszów

Courtesy of Leila Shaw, we have acquired a set of vital record index photocopies from the LDS film collection for Staszów. These indices are in Cyrillic. We need a volunteer to transliterate the names into Polish.

Pilica and Kromolów

Courtesy of Jeff Cymbler, we have acquired a set of 1790/91 census data photocopies for Pilica and Kromolów, both of which became part of the Olkusz powiat of Kielce gubernia (in 1790/91 they were part of the Kraków palatinate of Poland). These documents do not contain surnames. People are listed by given name and patronymic (father's name). In order for the data to be useful, we need to be able to connect these people with the surnames they later acquired. The best way to accomplish this is to compare them to the vital records for the 1808-1825 period. This period encompasses the time of the surname mandate (1821). We need volunteers to perform vital record extractions of the Pilica and Kromolów 1808-1825 birth marriage and death records. Please see the articles "Power of Extracts" in The Kielce-Radom SIG Journal (1:1) and "Don't Let a Little Extraction Scare You" in this issue. Once the extractions are complete, an analysis can be performed to assign conjectural surnames to the families registering events prior to the adoption of surnames. This data can then be compared with the census data to assign conjectural surnames to some of those families.

Updates to our Project List

We are pleased to announce the following new projects to our list.

- Chęciny 1834-1867
Dolores Ring and Lauren B. Eisenberg Davis
- Wolbrom 1810-1825
Robert Heyman

Additionally, for those with internet access, data from the following towns is incorporated into the Russian Era Indexing of Poland Project (REIPP) database, and are available for query: Chęciny, Olkusz, Radom and Włoszczowa. We encourage all Kielce-Radom SIG members creating electronic versions of vital records indices to submit them to REIPP.

Visit the REIPP web page at <http://www.jewishgen.org/reipp>, or request the REIPP InfoFile to be sent to you via e-mail. To receive the InfoFile, send e-mail with no subject or text to reipp2@jewishgen.org.

Are you interested in a specific town or towns not listed here? It's easy to get your project registered. Read the series of articles on records and extraction. Consult the JGFF and find other people researching your area. Try to share the work among researchers of a common town.

We are interested in all indexing or extraction of records from towns in our gubernias, as well as census information from those towns, cemetery surveys (both in the towns in Poland, and from landsmanshaften burial society plots in cemeteries the world over). Share all your ideas with us and together we will grow as a major research force.

Please contact Lauren Davis in regard to any of the above efforts:

Early Surname Usage Survey

Lauren B. Eisenberg Davis
 Statistics compiled by Daniel C. Davis

Surname usage varied widely throughout our region of study in the early 1800s. The statistics shown in the accompanying table were compiled from the following vital records extraction projects:

Town	Researcher(s)
Chęciny	Warren Blatt and Lauren Davis
Małogoszcz	Michael Tobias
Olkusz	Robert Heyman
Sobków	Warren Blatt

Fields with a dash "-" indicate that no Jewish records were available for that event/year: either no Jews registered their vital events, or they were not microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah (Mormons). Fields showing zero percent surname usage indicate that Jewish records were filmed for that year, but none had formal surnames.

Some interpretation was involved in separating patronymic style surnames from pure patronymics.

These towns fell under two surname mandates: 1805 under Austrian rule as part of West Galicia, and 1821 under Russian rule as part of Congress Poland. From 1810 until November 1821, these Jews were not required to use surnames. Some continued to register with the Austrian government imposed surnames during this time, while many reverted to the more familiar patronymics. This varied greatly from town to town, with some towns showing virtually no regular surname usage until after the Russian mandate, and others, such as Olkusz, showing a very high rate of surname usage. Even once the mandate was enacted, it took some time for surname usage to be widely accepted. It was not unusual, even into the 1840s, to see only patronymics used on death records of elderly people.

Alexander Beider, author of A Dictionary of Jewish Surnames from the Kingdom of Poland, wrote in private correspondence dated February 1, 1997:

"I continue to think that civil records of 1810s-20s-30s in many cases do not reflect the real usage of surnames. Often it was a scribe's desire whether or not to put the surname in the record, and therefore, many surnames assigned already were omitted in the records."

However, it must be noted that records which do not contain an explicit surname do identify principal parties by patronymic.

These trends are comparable with towns in the part of Lublin palatinate that were part of West Galicia 1795-1809 as well. See Table 2. No extracts are available for Radom gubernia towns for comparison at this time.

Don't Let a Little Extraction Scare You!

Lauren B. Eisenberg Davis

The article "The Power of Extracts" in the inaugural issue of this journal introduced the process and value of vital record extractions. It is now time to convince you that this is not just a tool available to an elite group of experienced professionals. Anybody can perform extractions given a bit of patience and motivation.

A Case in Point

In February 1995, I paid my first visit to a Mormon Family History Center. I was completely unprepared for Polish-language document research. Sheer determination caused me to bully my way through the records of my ancestral town of Radom. In May 1995, after pointing me toward Chęciny to find my Manela ancestors (whom I'd erroneously believed had come from Radom), Warren Blatt sent me his vital record extracts for Chęciny 1810-1819. He explained that it was very difficult to use the 1810-1825 microfilms, in which Jews were intermixed in the Roman Catholic civil register, and often had no surnames. His extract document had isolated the Jewish records, and assigned conjectural surnames to many of the families therein.

I was amazed at the work he had done. I wanted the remainder of the Chęciny pre-1826 Jewish records extracted from the Roman Catholic microfilms as well, to aid in my research. Understand that in my mind, at that time, this meant that I wanted Warren to complete the project he had started. Unfortunately, Warren was completely immersed in his work as chairman of the 1996 Summer Seminar, and additionally, Chęciny was no longer at the top of his personal research priority list. He had every intention of returning to complete the project . . . eventually. However, "eventually" was not good enough for my needs: I was writing a family history book, and needed the 1820-1825 data for my own family research. I came to a frightening realization: I had no choice but to attempt to extract the Jewish records from those years myself. I was, at the time, a six-month-old genealogy infant.

And so I embarked on this monumental adventure, which, I can honestly say, in retrospect, completely shaped my genealogy "career". It was a formidable task. Chęciny had a fairly large Jewish population. The handwriting of the Chęciny clerks was particularly horrible. Additionally, I did not have the luxury of determining my own extract style, or deciding to proceed slowly and only extract the very basic items from the records. I was completing an existing project, which had been started by a genealogist with very high standards and many years of experience behind him. I had to complete the project in the same detailed style that Warren had begun it.

Fortunately, I had Warren looking over my shoulder, correcting my errors, and offering advice as I struggled along. He constantly pushed me to my technical limits, and beyond. At one point, early on, he mentioned that he noticed that I had not extracted the town names for the 1824 and 1825 marriages (the only two years I had completed at that time). Geography is not my strength, I told him, wondering if indeed I had any strength at all in this venture. The towns are just so hard for me, too hard, I admitted. Warren patiently explained to me that the towns are one of the most crucial bits of information buried in the marriage registrations. They identify prior towns that our ancestors came from, origins of out-of-town brides and grooms. Insurmountable as it seemed, I added towns to my list of extract information for marriages, double checking my work with Where Once We Walked to verify that I had indeed copied a name of a legitimate location.

As time progressed, I made a startling discovery. This enormously frustrating project had become much easier. At the most exasperating moments early in the extraction, my only wish was to be done. Warren had told me that he actually enjoyed extracting, a concept that I found to be ludicrous. And yet, the longer I struggled, the less I struggled. It was an adventure, a journey, and I learned to love it.

I became familiar with the residents of Chęciny, and could recognize their surnames, if they had any, and most of the nearby towns from which spouses were imported. When surnames were not present, I often recognized particular groupings of given names that identified specific families. I began to relax and enjoy the challenge and discovery of the project, and gained the confidence to personalize the work I'd done apart from Warren's portion of the extracts.

Once the extractions were complete, I performed a variety of analysis on the data: conjectural surnames for many families that had none, multiple surnames for a number of families, mortality study, occupation distribution, and correlation of birth and death records. I was able to see my ancestors not as isolated Jews, but as part of a larger community. I could find the origins of naming anomalies that would otherwise have prevented me from tracing certain branches of the family.

I made many exciting discoveries about my family, and about life in the Chęciny region. After my initial intimidation about undertaking such a project, I found that I now wanted to extract more towns, to discover the hidden secrets of my past.

Starting Your Own Extraction Project

A comprehensive extraction project, extracting records for all Jews of a town, differs from extracting information just for your known relatives only in volume. It is simply a set of individual record extractions. It is not necessary to have a working knowledge of the Polish or Russian languages. Resources are available to help you conquer the language barrier. Realize that the standard vocabulary used in vital records is a rather limited collection of words. Arm yourself with the following materials:

- a good Polish-English dictionary
- A Translation Guide to 19th-Century Polish-Language Civil-Registration Documents, by Judith A. Frazin
- Russian-Language Documents from Russian Poland: A Translation Manual for Genealogists, by Jonathan Shea
- a list of towns and villages in the region

Familiarize yourself with the format of the records and the look of the language. Since Napoleonic format is a paragraph style essay, you need to be able to identify the components. See figure 1 (courtesy of Warren Blatt) for an example of a birth registration and its translation

Selecting Data Fields for Extraction

Some extracts contain just name and parents. Others are more comprehensive. Consider the following in approximate order of importance:

- record number and year
- names and parent names
- town
- age

- occupation
- marital status
- survivors
- witnesses
- date of event
- house number

Record number: Always include the record number ("akta") and year for every entry. This enables other researchers to go back to the original document.

Names and Parents: Include all given names, surnames and patronymics.

Town: This item is crucial for marriages. Often one partner was from elsewhere; in order to trace the ancestors of that partner, you need to know in what town to look. Sometimes towns, other than the town where the event was registered, are identified on birth and death records. Reasons for this include families that recently moved to the town may identify their town of origin, visitors to the town experiencing life cycle events, and most commonly municipalities whose jurisdiction covers more than a single town.

You can generate a town list geo-centered at your town of extraction to help identify correct town names. Sometimes the handwriting on the records is difficult, and the surrounding town names may look very unfamiliar. This list will help in the extraction of location names from the records. Use either the Where Once We Walked Companion or the JewishGen ShtetlSeeker. Where Once We Walked Companion is a book available through Avotaynu, and includes detailed instructions on how to create such a list from the data supplied in the book and in Where Once We Walked. Those with Internet access may prefer to use the JewishGen ShtetlSeeker database <<http://www1.jewishgen.org/locmenu.htm>>, which will generate a list of all towns within a radius of up to 30 miles around your point of interest.

Also, be sure to write down the type of locality: whether it is identified as a city (miasta), town (miescie) or village (wieś). Additionally, note any jurisdictional information given, such as the locality's district (powiat) or county (gmina). This can help identify the correct locality.

Place names are often given in the locative case in these documents. Example: "in Chęciny" = "Chęcinach". For details, see Fay Bussgang's article in MassPocha V:3

Birth Registration of Alter Chiel Mydło, July 6, 1856

[from the Civil Register of the Jewish Community of Chęciny, Poland, 1856; on FHL microfilm #730,267; film item #3, birth registration #111. Transcription and translation from the original Polish by Warren Blatt.]

Age: Age is crucial for a death record, and interesting for marriage and parents on a birth record. It can be an important factor in analysis of pre-surname records, in matching pre-surname families with surnames from a later period of data. While ages were usually inexact as reported, they give a general range of years for birth of the person, which may help pinpoint a specific connection.

Occupation: This is an interesting characteristic of our ancestors. Occupation is enormously helpful in assigning conjectural surnames to pre-surname records. An unusual occupation can narrow down the possibilities tremendously, or eliminate candidates from contention. For example,

Chaim, son of Joel, goldsmith
Marya, daughter of Herszel matches easily with

Chaim Mąka, goldsmith
Marya Futerchendler

if other factors, such as age, are in the general range of similarity, while it is a definite mismatch with

Chaim Gutman, butcher
Marya Bergman

Keep occupations in the original Polish; it's easier, plus we don't know exactly what they meant in the context of 19th century Jewish life, so to translate them literally can introduce unintentional errors. The occupation definitions that appeared in the previous issue of this journal provide a sufficient companion tool for extracted occupations.

Marital Status: Marital status is very helpful in tracing multiple spouses, and narrowing down death dates, searching for marriage records, etc. Note whether a person is a bachelor (kawaler), maiden (panna) or widowed (wdow),

Survivors on death records: The detail varies from town to town and clerk to clerk. Some towns list only the spouse. Other towns list surviving children (sometimes with ages, spouses, and towns of residence), siblings, etc. Be aware that children identified on a survivor list of a death registration may not all be from the same marriage. Consequently, you do not automatically know both parents of the surviving children. Likewise, if it is the death record of a woman, do not assume that you implicitly know the children's surname without further evidence. Additionally, do not assume that a survivor list is necessarily complete.

Witnesses: In the earlier records, witnesses were often members of the family, with relationship explicitly noted. Even once standard witnesses were used (you will see the same two names from record to record, year to year), sometimes the witnesses were still relatives: a death reported by the grandfather or uncle, the brother of the bride witnessing a marriage. Note all witnesses whose relationship to the principal party is stated. It might be the only link to that branch of the family.

Date of event: This is not to be confused with date of registration. Some events are registered on a delayed basis, perhaps several years or more. Sometimes there is a clause explaining the reason for the delay. Hence, a birth registered in 1855 is not guaranteed to have occurred in 1855.

House number: Records in the Roman Catholic registry period (1810-1825) include this information. It can be helpful in grouping families that lived together, although if the number does not refer to a single home, but a cluster of flats for example, the validity of this tool diminishes.

Select a Town

Ideally, we'd like to collectively extract all towns with records available. Realistically, we have to set our priorities. Consider the following factors:

- Size of the town. Start with a small town if possible. Chęciny was overwhelming. Other towns I've done have been easier to handle. A small population allows you to chart the entire town, to recognize all the residents in a short period of time, and to make more and better associations between them.
- Are the records indexed? Unindexed records are the highest priority for extraction.
- If an index exists, how comprehensive is it? Most towns list the record number and name as the sole contents of the index. A very small number of towns, however, have a very thorough index style, including parents and ages, but this is extremely rare. It hardly pays to invest the time to extract such a set, unless you have a specific reason for doing so. Some indices are chronological, most are "semi-alphabetical", and some are alphabetical by given name. See figure 3 for an illustration of a typical index.

- Does this town include mothers' maiden names on the records? If so, that is definitely a reason to consider extraction. It is rare to be able to identify mothers of a particular maiden name you are tracing by viewing the index.

Select Years

There are three basic eras to consider:

- 1810-1825: the Roman Catholic registry period. During this time, all religious groups were included in the Roman Catholic civil register. During most of this period, Jews were not required to register with surnames. This is the single most important phase for extraction. Extraction is the only practical and realistic way to master the pre-surname data.
- 1868 +: the Cyrillic period. This period is difficult for many researchers with limited familiarity with the Cyrillic alphabet or Russian language. Extracts by this with a decent command of the skills needed greatly ease the difficulties for researchers who are less at ease with this language barrier.
- 1826-1867: the Polish language period of Jewish civil registration. While all extractions are important tools of genealogy research, this period is of the lowest priority. Within this phase, I would rank marriages as most crucial, because they contain the all-important town of origin information.

Identifying the Jews

If you are planning to extract the Jews from the Roman Catholic register, start by extracting a few years of the Jewish register beginning in 1826. This will give you a feel for the surnames and families of the town. It also eliminates the need to determine which are the Jewish records.

Once you complete a portion of that, you can begin to extract Jews from the Roman Catholic civil registry (1810-1825). There are several clues to use in helping identify which records are for Jews. Consult the index, if there is one. Look for Jewish given names. Many surnames of Jews were also surnames used by Christians, so that is not an enormous help. A few given names crossed the religion boundaries (Josef, Jakob, Szymon); for those you will need to examine other names within the record itself in order to reach a decision. A few Jews had distinctly non-Jewish given names, such as Luka and Brigida. Again, the total set of names on a record should be the determining factor.

The presence of Yiddish signatures confirms a Jewish record; do not erroneously assume that absence of Yiddish signatures eliminates the possibility of a Jewish record. Often, records explicitly identify Jews as "Starozakonny". Sometimes in the margin or on the index you will see the notation "Star." or "Zyd". These both indicate Jews.

When using the index as a starting point, go back through the records looking for "Zyd" or "Star." in the margins, or the presence of Yiddish signatures, to double check your work. Some records just don't make it into the index. The ideal procedure would be to read every record, seeking clues that would pinpoint the religion of the family.

Some towns have few, if any, Jewish records for the years 1813-1816. However, it is still necessary to comb the records carefully even if, on the surface, it appears that no Jews registered. One or two Jewish records may be embedded in the register.

Standard Format

- Surnames should be in all capital letters and bold. Surnames, if present, should precede the given name.
- If any information was absent on the original record, represent it with a dash "-".
- If the information was illegible in the original record, indicate that with a single question mark.
- All conjectured information must be enclosed within square brackets. Conjectural information is information that does not appear in the original record, but is added from an analysis of a collection of records about a family. A prime example is assignment of a surname to a pre-surname family.

Sample Extracts

Figure 2 contains examples of birth, marriage and death extracts. Note that the year will appear only once, before the set of birth, marriage or death extracts for a given year, not for each individual record extracted.

- Birth extract: No surname appeared on the original registration and this family was not identified in the post-surname records extracted, so no conjectural surname was assigned. The extract summarizes the registration of Chęciny 1810 birth record #6, the birth of Herszl to Icek, son of Lefka, szynkarz (innkeeper) by trade, age 25, and Sura, daughter of Herszek, age 24, in house #16 in the village of Polichnie, on September 12.
- Marriage extract: No surnames appeared on the original registration, but further study of later records yielded surnames for both bride and groom, as well as the fact that the groom used two different surnames. This extract summarizes the registration of Chęciny 1819 marriage #38 of Josek (who later took on the surnames Potasnicki and Mydlarz), age 19, son of Moszek son of Hyl, piekarz (baker) by trade, and Ryfka daughter of Dawid, of the town of Sobków, to Eidla (whose family later took on the surname Dziadek), age 19, daughter of Herszek son of Rubin, szynkarz by trade, and Leja daughter of Majorek, of Chęciny.
- Death extract: Although this extract is not from either Kielce or Radom gubernias, but rather from Lublin gubernia, it is one of the finest examples in my collection. It summarizes Izbica 1861 death record #17 of Mindla Frydman (maiden name) Baumgarten (married name), age 48, daughter of Josia Frydman and Dwojra, leaving behind a husband, three married daughters and their husbands, and an unmarried daughter.

Extract Data in this Issue

Kielce	Marriages	1869-1884	Dolores Lee Ring & David Zakai
Olkusz	Births	1810-1825	Robert E. Heyman

The vital record extracts for this issue are 1869-1884 Kielce marriages, prepared by Dolores Lee Ring and David Zakai; and 1810-1825 Olkusz births, prepared by Robert E. Heyman. This data has been extracted from the civil registration in possession of the Polish State Archives, and microfilmed by the Church of Jesus Christ Latter-day Saints (LDS). These extractions include information derived directly from the original registrations on the following LDS microfilms:

#1,192,420 Kielce 1869-1872
 #1,192,421 Kielce 1873-1877
 #1,808,866 Kielce 1877-1884 (overlap of a year)
 #0,875,254 Olkusz 1810-1816
 #0,875,255 Olkusz 1817-1821
 #0,875,256 Olkusz 1822-1825

Kielce

The city of Kielce experienced numerous Jewish residence bans throughout its history. In 1535 the first ban of Jews living in Kielce was enacted. The Jews returned to Kielce permanently in 1852, but affiliated with the Jewish congregation of Chęciny until 1868. {"Kielce", Encyclopaedia Judaica, X:990, Keter Publishing House, Jerusalem, Israel, 1972}.

Hence, all Kielce Jews came from elsewhere. The town data in the Kielce extracts will help pinpoint where Kielce residents came from prior to their arrival in Kielce. No Jewish civil registration occurred in Kielce until 1868. Kielce researchers are advised to view the pre-1867 Chęciny records for Kielce residents.

Additional information on surnames and patronymics, particularly for maiden names of mothers of the brides and grooms, has been derived by the author from an analysis of data in this document, as well as extractions from the Chęciny records. All conjectural information is noted in square brackets, to differentiate from the data that appears in the original records.

Several abbreviations are used in the Kielce marriage extractions. A blank space indicates information missing in the original registration document. A question mark denotes illegible information, or spelling of a location that deviates from the atlas spelling. D is district (powiat); KD is Kielce district (powiat); (v) is alias; (mn) is maiden name of bride, if it is not her first marriage; (d) is deceased; (w) is widow(er).

Olkusz

From 1810 through 1825, the Jewish vital statistic events were recorded in the Roman Catholic civil registry throughout the Duchy of Warsaw and Kingdom of Poland. The Olkusz extractions printed here do not differentiate between patronymics and surnames. However, the only Olkusz patronymic-style surnames that survived well past the 1821 Russian surname mandate were Lewkowicz and Szymonowicz. The Olkusz extracts contain no conjectures; they are a transcription of only that information which was written in the original records.

Note: a 'P' in front of the number in the record number column indicates a page number, since some earlier records were not numbered.

The Olkusz information can also be queried on-line via the Russian Era Indexing of Poland Project (REIPP), for those with Internet access. See the Kielce-Radom SIG Projects page in this journal for further information on REIPP.

Caution

These extracts are intended to assist the researcher in selecting records that may be of use for further study. There may be errors in interpretation due to the uneven quality of legibility of the writing, the microfilming and the condition of the microfilm itself, in addition to errors and decay affecting the original record books. As always, it is prudent for the researcher, when using secondary source data such as this work, to examine the primary source data for final verification. It is always best for the genealogist to view the actual records pertaining to his/her family to verify the interpretation, and glean additional facts.

Dolores Lee Ring is a former elementary school teacher and library clerk. She is now researching her husband's family in Kielce.

David Zakai is a gastroenterologist living in New York, is a member of the JGSNY and has been doing genealogical research for about 3 years.

Robert E. Heyman lives in Owings Mills, MD, and works as a mathematician for the Department of Defense. He has been researching his family tree since 1992, and within the last two years has discovered deep roots in Olkusz.

The new journal was spectacular. You do marvelous work. I can see that it is a tremendous job to organize.

Dolores Ring

The first issue of the K-R SIG was wonderful - I got several useful ideas to extend my research of Ozarow. I would be grateful for e-mail addresses of active Ozarow researchers to discuss these further. I look forward to the next issue.

Norman Weinberg

We thank all of those who complimented us on our first issue. These are but a few of them. We, in turn, thank all of you for giving us the privilege of putting out this journal. -GS

ARE THERE RECORDS FOR OSTROWIEC?

Since LDS does not have Jewish records for Ostrowiec Swietokrzynski on file, do Jewish records--Birth, Marriage, Death, Cemetery--exist and how does one access these records without going to Ostrowiec? It is my intent to visit in 1998, but I am not equipped to research the records.

Col. Harry Stein
ytpt23a@prodigy.com

You will need to write to the Archives and/or USC (depending upon what time period you are interested in). See the article "Vital Records in Poland" in this issue of the journal. Please let us know what you find out. -WB .

WANTS INFO ON HOW RELATIVES PERISHED

I have no inherent interest in genealogy except for personal (reasons). One of the issues is to find out where exactly different members of my family perished. Where do I start?.

Margalit Tal

Each of us has his or her own personal reasons for doing genealogical research. You might begin at the U.S. Holocaust Museum research department. -GS

WHY DO DEATHS EXCEED BIRTHS IN RADOM

Usually when viewing LDS films of vital records, the number of births in a given year exceeds the number of deaths, except in the case of things like the years plagued by cholera epidemics. I noticed an abnormally large amount of deaths in the beginning of the Jewish civil registry for the city of Radom compared to the amount of births. Things eventually got to be more along what was expected, but I wonder if you knew why?

Robert Heyman
robeh@mindspring.com

For the years 1827-1841 almost every year has a significantly greater number of deaths than births. I suspect that the reason for this was the Radom hospital. In the 1848 cholera epidemic, many of the deaths registered in Radom were for non-Radomers who died at the Radom hospital. They came from other powiat (districts) and even other gubernias, such as Lublin and Augustow.-LBD

LOOKING FOR INFO ON SANDOMIERZ

Looking for info on my father's side of the family, from Sandomierz but my dad pronounced it "Sondomnish."

Donna
Hoistem@aol.com

Sandomierz was in Radom gubernia of Russian Poland before WWI, with a Jewish population of 2,163 in 1897; 2,641 before WWII. We will be producing much more information about the region in the future. -WB

CAN 1808 ZWOLEN RECORDS BE FOUND?

My ancestry goes back through Brooklyn-Vienna-

Hungary then back to Zwolen no later than 1808. One vital record I found in the record books of Nagy Teteny, Hungary,

Date of birth: Apr. 24, 1808
Father of the newborn: Josekim Kirsman
Mother of the newborn: Ana Blum
Residence of parents: Zwolen

I'm not sure whether this means the parents were traveling/visiting at the time of birth, or that they had moved from Zwolen and that their registration had not moved with them.

This 1808 event pre-dates the recorded vital records of Zwolen, as far as I can tell. There are some "Kirzman" records in the earliest microfilmed records of Zwolen, but I see no clear relationship yet.

Fred Davis
lalfdavis@aol.com

You can bridge the gap between your 1808 Hungarian registration and the Jewish vital records of Zwolen by examining the Roman Catholic civil register, which included Jews from 1810-1825. If your family had not yet moved to Hungary permanently, you may find traces of them in these early years of Zwolen. However, it is very possible that they may not have registered with a surname. Hence you would need to extract the Jewish records from the Zwolen Roman Catholic register. Refer to the articles in this issue of the journal, as well as the first issue, that deal with the subject of vital record extractions. Please let us know the results of your search and share your extractions with us. -LBD

MEMBER EAGER TO SHARE RESEARCH

I am very excited about this SIG. I have done extensive research on Slomniki, Nowy Korczyn, Staszow and Wolbrum. I have also researched the towns of Zarnowiec, Pinczow, Polaniec, Rytwiiany, Wodzislaw and Konskie. I visited a number of these towns in 1989 with my father and would be happy to share what I know.

I have found a great deal of mobility of residents between these towns in the 19th century records. Could be put together some type of database based on our collective experience?

Welcome aboard! We hope you can contribute information that can be published in a future issue. We look forward to working with you. -GS

FINDS LAGOW VITAL RECORDS IN OPATOW

Congratulations on a terrific job with your first issue. If I can be of any assistance here please ask.

My ancestors came from Lagow, a small shtetl of no more than 2,000 Jewish inhabitants at any time. When I searched the LDS records and could not find Lagow in any of the indexes, I tried Opatow, a much larger neighboring shtetl. I just hoped that the official records would be kept there.

I got lucky and found three valuable ancestral documents which I am now having translated.

sidoh@sympatico.ca

Although you are not the only member to have found Lagow relatives in the Opatow films, at this time it has not yet been determined if ALL Lagow residents registered their vital events in Opatow. We are investigating.

With the help of our members we hope to identify the towns that registered elsewhere so that researchers interested in those towns can access the records.

Also, see Michael Tobias' article on the LDS Microfilm Master system, and the announcement that accompanies it. -LBD

PUZZLED ABOUT KIELCE YIZKOR BOOK

In the article by Alexander Beider, "Surnames from Eastern Radom Gubernia", it states that there is a yizkor book for Kielce. This past summer I was in Kielce with members of the Kieltzer Society (from New York and Israel) for ceremonies connected with the anniversary of the Kielce pogrom. I was told there was no yizkor book for Kielce. Can you provide me with additional information?

Gail Mermelstein

Cincinnati, OH

Yes, there IS a Kielce yizkor book. One is being offered for sale in an earlier "Letter" this issue. -GS

Some important information to our members . . .

Clarification of length of membership

Membership in our group is for a calendar year. It runs from Jan. 1 through December 31 of each year. It entitles you to EVERYthing published during the course of that year, from Issue #1 through Issue #4.

If you have not received Issue #1, please notify us immediately.

We need MORE members . . .

Our society started off with a bang! We were very well received among genealogists and also from a variety of national and international libraries.

You can help your SIG by suggesting that your own Jewish genealogical society, your local Holocaust library, the Judaica studies group at your college, or your Jewish historical society subscribe to the Kielce-Radom SIG Journal. Cost is the same as regular members and runs for the entire year. Such renowned libraries as Bar Ilan Univ. in Israel, the New York Public Library, the Montreal Jewish Library, the Univ. of Denver, the Holocaust Memorial Library of Northern California and many others have already subscribed.

More members means more funds for research and a bigger and better publication for all.

We need more material

Some of you may not think your research holdings are worthwhile to others. They are. We are looking for anecdotes about K-R research you have done, old photos, maps, cemetery lists, landschafmen organizations, stories about the towns in our area, and the like.

Polish translators needed!

We have so much interesting historical material that is inaccessible because of the language barrier. We are in dire need of Polish translators. Can you help?

We can always use your input

Send any information or suggestions you may have, either by mail to Gene Starn, Coordinator, P.O. Box 520583, Longwood, FL 32752 or via e-mail to <genes@iag.net>, or if you want voice-to-voice communication, phone area code 407-788-3898.
